

Shinshuri is the founder of Oracles of Truth, Inc. She holds a Doctorate in Educational Leadership, a Master of Education in Instructional Technology, and a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering.

She has more than fifteen years experience in new media, education, instructional and information technology, and engineering fields.

She has a strong focus in research, leadership, and vocational skills development. She developed a philanthropic business model, innovative learning technology tools, and research-based performance assessment methodologies to accelerate personal transformation while being of selfless service in the community.

Shinshuri hosts the No Excuse Zone™ on OracleRadio™ and OracleTV™. She created the Integrated Personal Transformation Leadership \(IPTL\) Program to demonstrate the feasibility of a practical, research based, holistic educational model that teaches students how to effectively acquire and use knowledge to unleash their greatest potential, attain their life purpose, and manifest success in all spheres of their life, while being of selfless service in the community.

"It's not about me. It's about you. When you remember who you are and why you are here. You will realize it's not about you either. It's about us. Live more than for yourself. Be of selfless service." ~Shinshuri

Testimonials

Shinshuri provides the tools by asking us the questions that we need to be asking ourselves, that is to say, if we are to consider ourselves truth seekers with the intent to be authentic at all. She lights a fire that is nothing less than nourishment for the soul and an immense opportunity to grow. ~Karen Lytle, California

The concept of invoking thought provoking discussion on where you are in your being simply is innovative. It is a personal challenge to all to get involved, realize your potential through rich discussions, and be informed. What an excellent platform to learn, be all-inclusive in higher order thinking and project ideas that are meaningful. ~Roger Copeland, Ed.D., Maryland
